

The 2028 Scenarios

Here are some of the scenarios you can work with in your group.

Options:

1. Everyone works with the same scenario and each person/group takes a different angle on it. Then come back together and build one big scenario!
2. Distribute the scenarios to different sub-groups and have them all share their contributions with the main group, to cover all five scenarios.
3. Work through them gradually over a number of experiences.
4. Some of the scenarios may overlap and we love that, as one idea may spread the creativity even further.
5. Design your own approach that works best with your group.

Remember the energy we are creating for this amazing exploratory future, changes the vibration on the planet! What we ask the universe for is so important as we create our own reality, both individually and collectively. This is your chance to change the world...

Scenario 1: World Leadership – ‘The World Unity Collective’

When the old leadership approach was replaced by the World Unity Collective, the whole planet became different overnight. These Leaders of world consciousness were selected for their integrity and ethics, a history of service to others and/or their humanitarian and sustainability experience.

The three philosophies of world leadership embraced by these people are:

1. We are all connected and that which affects one, affects all.
2. Our reason for being is to raise our own and other’s vibration.
3. We are the custodians of the Earth and her well being is our legacy to future generations.

In every country, there are two groups: The People Ambassadors and The Planetary Advocates. These people make the new laws of society and work together for the common goal of having a wonderful experience living on this planet. They work together so beautifully and collaboratively. There is no ‘politics’ and no ideology that contravenes the 3 philosophies above.

Some suggested possibilities...

- Design an inspiring logo for the World Unity Collective.
- You have just been appointed to the People Ambassadors or Planetary Advocates (your choice). You have the power to bring about incredible change. What will you do?
- Who do you see in the world of today, that may become one of these leaders of the future? Tell us about them, how they emerged and what they are doing in 2028.
- How do we start to develop these characteristics in young people, that will mean they are ready in 2048, to move into these roles?
- If you had a time machine and could go back in time to a character in history and invite to come back with you and become a member of either the People Ambassadors or Planetary Advocates, who would you travel to see and why?

Scenario 2: 'A Universe of Metascience'

We replaced Science with something that held integrity, passion and purpose. There had been widespread influences from research funding and in many cases the results of scientific studies had been moulded towards particular goals for profit and prestige. Some fields of study had been minimised or ignored, even though powerful trends were emerging.

We started over with 'Metascience', which was a blending of the physical and non-physical areas of research and study on an equal footing. We now study the 'logical application of consciousness' as it echoes into the real world for the good of humanity.

The paranormal and the normal, ancient medicinal arts and modern healing methods now exist side by side for exploration by enquiring minds. For example, the field of 'Celestial Consciousness' contains the best of Astrology, Astronomy and Astrophysics, where we study the universe through ancient wisdom and modern science under the context of a Quantum view of the universe itself.

All levels of education teach the Metasciences now. The World Unity Collective now fund all research initiatives that contribute to the 3 principles of leadership and move the world forward. These initiatives just need to show the benefits to humanity. There is no funding from other sources like there used to be in the olden days. All explorations carry a purity of intent and a deep and profound energy to serve humanity. The people who lead the Metasciences are inspirational and seen as heroes in our community with the break-through mindsets and new ways of thinking that they offer.

Some suggested possibilities...

- Tell us about the Metasciences being taught in primary/elementary schools, high schools and in universities and colleges that prepare people of all ages to undertake their unique and profound service to humanity.
- Tell us about the merging of different fields of study that embrace the new concept of Metascience.
- What are the ten most famous headlines in 2028 in regard to Metascience?
- There is an article in "The Metascience Mind" magazine about a particular breakthrough, that catches your eye. Tell us about the article, what it covers and why it is important.
- There has been rumours of 'off-world technologies' emerging in recent times. Choose three in particular and tell us about them.
- You are a well know Metascientist. Tell us about your life's work and what you have brought to the world.

Scenario 3: 'A Healthy World through Energetic Medicine'

The health of our people in all parts of the world has been greatly improved. A focus on naturally grown organic foods, education about the natural immunity of our systems enhanced by sunlight, fresh water, and exercise has changed the health of the average person. The Pharmaceutical industry has been retired, apart from a few critical life changing medicines and natural herbal remedies with no side effects have become the norm. We have combined the best of natural medicine with allopathic discoveries that bring about deep and lasting change in our people.

Physical health is maintained through new technologies that work with frequency and vibration. Mental Health is enhanced through a knowledge of the different levels of mind and how a healthy subconscious is key to a vibrant and healthy life, through the mind-body connection. Spiritual Health is encouraged, through a transcendent approach that embraces the internal journey through meditation and self-exploration.

It is well known and acknowledged, that the future of humanity will be in the hands of our children. As a result, everything that we do focusses on the nurture, safety and unconditional love for our children. We know that humanity is evolving and that the new humans being born will be different from the generation before. We watch for this and support that evolution through evolving health systems.

Some suggested possibilities...

- How is the Health Index measured? What areas does it measure, as a way to monitor the overall health of people in all parts of the world?
- Design a campaign to bring awareness of natural health of all humanity through education and sharing of knowledge. Which group in the community will you start with who may become advocates for the spreading of this knowledge?
- You are one of the new Health Advocates for Energetic Medicine. Tell us about your career and what you are bringing to the world.
- There is a network of Energetic Medicine Centres around the world. Tell us about these centres and how they deal with people. Is there a specific way of working, or even a floorplan that is common across all of them?
- You have become one of the People Ambassadors. The leaders have asked you to design specific approaches that embrace nurture, safety and love for the children in our world. What ideas do you put forward?

Scenario 4: 'Technology for a better world'

The world of technology is different now, for two reasons. The first is that all technologies have been designed so they emit no radiation. Gradually EMF has been minimised and will be retired completely by 2030. We have found ways to rebirth technology with a connection into the vibrational energy field of people, that means everything is connected and your own thought forms contribute to this field. An example of this is when you are working with a computer and send information through your thought forms. Those thoughts are picked up from the field and generate words on a screen. We no longer use a keyboard. Its like typing your thoughts through intention. There are no wires, no radio waves, just pure thought read by the computer from the field.

The second change has been the discovery of Quantum Networking, as an extension of Quantum Computing. The old binary code was very traditional, though when we managed to have code in its 'superposition' (all possibilities), then entangled with the thought forms of a user, technology was reborn. This same technique is used to establish a world wide web of thought forms where you can ask a question into the field and the answer comes on your screen. Its like the universe matches a question with an answer as they carry the same vibrational information.

This sounds really technical, so we simplify it like this. We drive technology with our thoughts rather than our fingers moving across a keyboard that came from our thoughts. We just bypassed one step and our nickname for it 'Techopathy' – like telepathy for technology.

We are starting research that trials doing away with the screens. This will retire the screens finally and have the answers to questions, move into your awareness as soon as you 'think' that question.

Some suggested possibilities...

- How can these new ways of working benefit society generally, or across a specific industry?
- You have invented a new machine for a specific purpose. What is it? How does it work? What does it offer to people?
- Its 2040 and you are a leader in one of the new technical fields of study. You are being interviewed about your life. What you would offer the people who want to follow in your footsteps.
- You have been asked to write humanitarian guiding principles that will be encoded into all new technology. What are they and why are they important.
- Which of the new inventions would you give a child as a present?

Scenario 5: 'The World Restoration Projects'

The billionaires of the old world donated half their wealth to the restoration of our planet. They all agreed to do so, once the World Unity Collective were swept to power around the world. The restoration resources are benefiting areas of the world that most need it. The resources are plentiful and offer everything imaginable.

There are now over 50,000 projects underway around the world staffed by 750 million people so far. They have been called to serve in some capacity, which is why we call these project roles 'callings', as one step on the path of a life of purpose.

People are inspired as they have a level of fulfilment, rarely found in the careers of the old world. They are lovingly supported as they go about these life changing projects.

Some suggested possibilities...

- Tell us about a project you would like to see created. What would it offer? Where will it be conducted?
- You are a project manager in a country of your choice, making a difference to the people you have chosen to work with. Tell us about a typical day.
- Tell us about what it is like to undertake your calling daily, compared to work you did back in the old days.
- You are leading a new project to continue to clean up the world's oceans. You have incredible resources available. How do you use them?
- You have been asked by the Planetary Advocates to lead a project that serves the animal life of this planet. Please describe your project.
- You are receiving an award for the project that has made the biggest difference in your chosen field. In your acceptance speech, you describe your project and what it has brought to the world. Please offer us your speech.
